

Meet Shannon, Guild's Early Intervention Specialist.

The Guild Insurance Workers Compensation team are excited to announce that we've created a new Early Intervention Specialist role, dedicated to helping you get your injured workers back to work safely and in good time.

Hi, I'm Shannon

I've worked in the Worker's Compensation industry for over 15 years and have a comprehensive understanding of the legislation and effective early intervention strategies. I'm compliance-focused and strive to achieve the best outcomes for employers and employees.

In this role, I work to address claims at the outset to facilitate a timely and efficient recovery and return-to-work process. I'll work closely with injured workers, employers, and healthcare providers to develop tailored approaches to reduce costs and minimise disruption.

I have seen how time-consuming it can be as an employer to manage a staff member's injury and return to work, while still running your business.

I'll be here for you from the start of the claims process to provide tailored support, whether it's:

- > attending the initial doctor visit with the worker.
- > providing the doctor with job dictionaries for the pre-injury role and available suitable duties.
- > drafting a Recover at Work plan, or
- > advising on the need for additional rehabilitation services.

The sooner we are notified, the sooner we can help!
